Confirmed by Bank:

1. Electronic Fund Transfer System:

Reserve bank of India (RBI) Electronic Fund Transfer System is a mechanism through which an Account holder of Bank can transfer funds to another person maintaining Account with any of the participating Commercial Banks.

2. Working of the EFT system:

a) Metro Railway will fill the EFT application form giving the particulars of suppliers / contractors (City, Bank, Branch, Suppliers/Contractors name, Type of Account, Account Number, Authorized Bank) to SBI, Chowringhee Branch along with the cheque payment to be made. F A&CAO, Metro Railway will prepare a schedule and send the duplicate of the EFT application form to the SBI for EFT data preparation (Day-1, working day).

b) The SBI will prepare the EFT data file by using a software package supplied by RBI and will transmit the same to the local RBI (National Clearing Cell) by 3.30 p.m. The RBI at the remitting centre, Kolkata will consolidate the files received from all Banks, and will sort the transactions city wise. Bank wise remittance data files will be transmitted to Banks on the same day itself (after 6.00 p.m.). Bank wise vouchers will also be prepared for crediting the receiving banks' accounts the next morning (Day-2, working day).

c) On the third day (working day) morning the receiving banks at the destination centres process the remittance files transmitted by RBI and forward credit reports to the destination branches for crediting the suppliers / contractors accounts.

3. Advantages to the suppliers / contractors:

- a) Firm's account is credited on the third day morning (working day).
- b) The trouble of collecting payment and then lodging for collection is avoided.
- c) Effort for collection of cheque in person is avoided.
- d) Undue transit time from Kolkata to other cities is avoided.

4. Availing of the EFT facility:

- a) The EFT facility can be availed by filling the mandate form attached herewith.
- b) The suppliers / contractors can switch over from one bank to the other by submitting fresh mandate form. The suppliers / contractors are free to operate bank accounts of their choice.
